With U. S. First Army in France, July 31—(P)—The American First Army captured Granville today and was fighting in the streets of Avranches.

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, July 31—(P)—Fairly strong American forces today advanced "well into" Avranches, the coastal city at the base of the Cotentin peninsula, near Brittany. Other troops captured La Reaiviere and La Freetiere in an encircling maneuver aimed at trapping the German garrison still holding Torigni-sur-Vire.

London, July 31—(P)—Berlin radio said today that the Americans had taken Granville, 16 miles southwest of Coutances.

By GLADWIN HILL
Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, July 31—(P)—A high-speed American armored column, bursting through the Germans' scrambled Seventh Army, has raced into Avranches in a dash of 18 miles from last reported positions and established today a pivotal line threatening the flank of the entire German defense in western France.

Avranches is 60 miles across the Normandy peninsula from the D-Day beachheads, and a firm grip on the town would permit the Americans' powerful tank columns to swing around the Germans and toward Paris, 160 miles to the east, or chop off the Brest peninsula in an offensive toward the south.

CAPITULATION OF KAUNAS IS ADMITTED

Military Spokesman Obviously is Preparing German Home Front For Fall of Polish Capital

PLUNGE INTO TRIANGLE

By the Associated Press

London, July 31—The Germans indicated today that the Russians may have reached Warsaw proper and their communiqué acknowledged the fall of the former Lithuanian capital of Kaunas after a fateful Sunday in which other Soviet forces stormed seven miles inside the Suwalki triangle of East Prussia.

"At Warsaw, German troops prevented strong Soviet forces from breaking through toward the town," the official Nazi agency DNB said.

A Berlin radio commentator said soon afterwards that the Russians were drawn up in an arc six miles from the Polish capital, within sight and easy artillery range of its old spires. The last Moscow report placed the Red army 20 miles southeast, but Berlin told of fresh retreats below the Polish capital.

The military spokesman obviously was preparing the German home front for early news of the fall of Warsaw.

Kaunas, second city of Lithuania with 123,395 population, lies 35 miles east of the pre-war East Prussian frontier, and on the Niemen river. Moscow reported Red troops well west of Kaunas and said the Germans were throwing in many fresh men and reserves to halt a Russian push into East Prussia itself.

The German Transocean agency said last Friday that Kaunas was (Turn to Page Seven)

Kane Correspondent Writes Graphic News From Pacific

(By Tony Smith, Kane, Pa., a Marine Corps combat correspondent.)

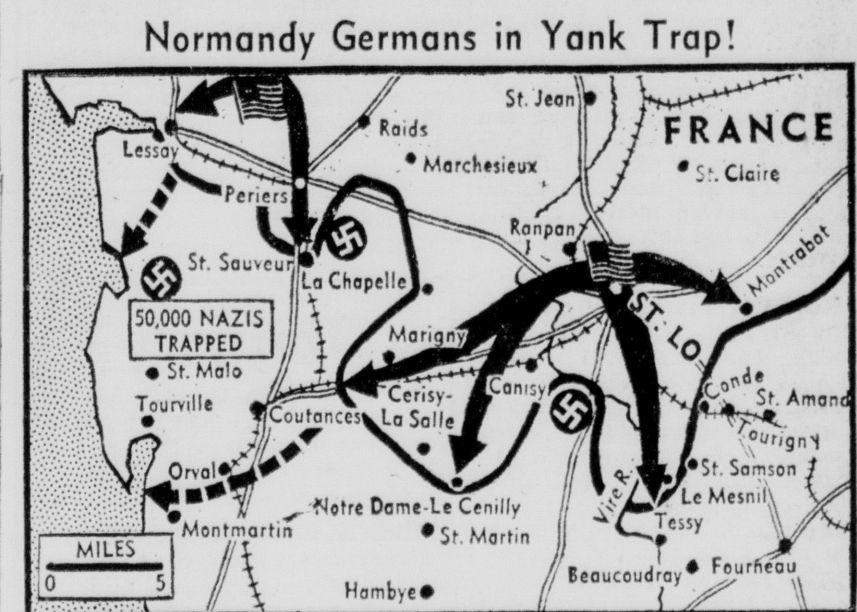

Saipan, Marianas Island—(Delayed)—There's a question whether even Robert Ripley of "Believe It Or Not" fame would credit the tremendous weight of weapons required to blast the Japs from field trenches, brush holes, and caves during the final push on this island.

Every short-range weapon, from a carbine to flame-throwers was used on one 20-foot trench system the Marines flushed out along the coast north of Rapan City.

Even then, one Jap "escaped" through the Hara-Kiri route. The operations even taxed the credulity of Marine Private First Class William D. Snyder, whose peacetime occupation was trapping alligators in the swamps near his home at Peery, Florida.

"I thought I knew a lot about trapped animals, but this beats me," he said. "I sometimes think these Japs dig deeper and faster

Candidates Are Being Picked In Seven States This Week

By the Associated Press
Politics takes a sudden spurt this week, more than three months ahead of the national election, with candidate-picking by parties in seven states and a meeting of Republican governors at St. Louis to boost Thomas E. Dewey's campaign for the presidency.

Renomination efforts of Rep. Hamilton Fish, New York Republican whom Dewey criticized last week on the grounds he had raised "racial and religious issues," and of Senator Bennett Clark, Missouri Democrat, are of chief interest nationally in this week's primaries.

Both come up tomorrow. Fish is opposed by Augustus W. Bennett, Newburgh lawyer. The congressman said yesterday his attorney would bring libel action against Playwright Maxwell Anderson and other signers of an anti-Fish political advertisement. Wendell L. Willkie agreed to represent Anderson as "a public service" when Fish had mentioned suing before.

Clark, a hard worker in the nomination of Senator Harry S. Truman as the Democratic candidate for vice president, is opposed (Turn to Page Seven)

Opponents Invite Libel Suit by Fish

Newburgh, N. Y., July 31—(P)—"All bluff and blather" is the comment of Playwright Maxwell Anderson on the declaration of Representative Hamilton Fish (R-N.Y.) that he will file libel actions against Anderson and other signers of an anti-Fish political advertisement.

Fish, seeking renomination at Tuesday's primary in the 29th district, announced yesterday he would file actions against the signers of what he termed "a scurrilous and defamatory political advertisement." Anderson was chairman of the committee which published the advertisement in the Nyaek, N. Y., Journal-News.

"If Mr. Fish will actually sue us and go through with the proceedings," said Anderson, "this is wonderful news. What we of the committee want is to get Fish's record before the voters. If we can get him into the court and compel an examination of his history, he will never again dare to enter a political campaign."

Fish filed a $250,000 libel action Friday against Robert F. Cutler, whose name appeared in the advertisement when it was published originally in the Ramapo Valley Independent at Suffern, N. Y.

AREA BOND CAMPAIGN IS NEARING THE GOAL

Pittsburgh, July 31—(P)—Bond workers today redoubled efforts to boost the sale of individual bond purchases to achieve the Fifth War Loan quota by the time the extended campaign closes at midnight tonight.

Latest federal reserve reports showed the 19-county Fort Pitt area had purchased $6 per cent of its individual bond quota up to the final day today.

Purchases of all types, however, have exceeded the $334,914,500 quota by 11 per cent for a total of $374,104,000.

HOPE HE'S RIGHT

Honey Brook, July 31—(P)—A Honey Brook business man who predicted that June 6 would be D-Day said today that Germany will cease fighting on August 4.

Walter S. White, who predicted coming events as an advertising stunt, announced the invasion date two weeks ahead of time.

VACATION IS ABOUT OVER FOR CONGRESS

Lawmakers Undecided Whether to Start Another Holiday or Buckle Down to Vital Tasks

MAY CHANGE ROUTINE

BULLETIN

Washington, July 31—(P)—Congress ends a five weeks vacation tomorrow, undecided whether to start another long holiday or buckle down now to the job of charting the road back to peacetime economy.

The prospects are there will be no legislative business transacted for at least several weeks, to give half a dozen committees time to whip into shape reconversion legislation which has gained a "must" rating by the successes against Germany.

Original plans for an outright recess until after Labor Day have been all but abandoned because of the clamor for congress to "do something" to cushion the shock the war's end might have on the nation's employment and business. Instead, an informal recess, with semi-weekly sessions attended by a handful of members, appears likely for a while.

Less than a quorum of law-makers is expected to be on hand when the current holiday formally ends at noon tomorrow.

The legislative dockets in both the senate and the house are virtually clear of major legislation.

Half a dozen committees and sub-committees on both sides of the capitol are studying demobilization legislation. Ahead of them is the task of compromising their differences into tangible bills likely to win support on the senate and house floors.

Dewey Given Great Ovation In Pittsburgh

By JACK BELL

Pittsburgh, July 31—(P)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, asserting that the new deal had failed to plan for postwar reconversion, declared today "it may not be long before the most vital thing that faces every American is his opportunity to work."

Arriving here for conference with political, business and labor leaders, the Republican presidential nominee told a press conference the country should remember that in November it will be electing a president, "most of whose term will be in peace time."

Dewey, who was greeted by a large crowd at the railroad station and spectators lining the streets on a circuitous parade to a downtown hotel, said he had come to Pennsylvania to begin work on the too long delayed preparations for "reconversion of industry" which he said vitally involved employment after the war ends.

Cheering crowds which lined the sidewalks greeted Dewey as he rode in an open car with Governor Edward Martin of Pennsylvania along a circuitous route to the hotel. It was the first such demonstration accorded Dewey since he returned to Albany, N. Y., after accepting the Republican nomination at Chicago.

Mrs. Dewey rode behind in a closed car with Mrs. Martin.

Although the city's large stores were closed until noon, there were a large number of spectators on hand for the parade. Estimates in the turnout varied, but Senator James J. Davis (R-Pa.) who was in the parade, said he thought approximately 25,000 persons were on hand at the railroad station or lining the streets.

Arriving at the hotel, Dewey prepared to plunge immediately into conferences which will take most of the day before he departs shortly before 10 p. m. for Springfield, Ill.

Ground Work Laid for a New Powerful Leap Toward The Long-Suffering Philippines

By J. B. KRUEGER
Associated Press War Editor

Pacific Commanders Nimitz and MacArthur, attacking at both ends of their converging campaigns, rapidly laid the foundations today for a new, powerful leap toward the long-suffering Philippines.

Weekend communiques told of a flurry of attacks on Japanese positions from Tinian in the Marianas to New Guinea, 1,300 miles to the south. The multitude of targets made it no easier for harassed Japan to guess which shell the pea was under.

The fighting men of Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, employing a "truly fearful" new secret weapon, bottled Japanese on Tinian's southern end, seized the island's main town and already had U. S. planes flying off Guam's Oroquieta peninsula, airfield. Upward of 5,000 surviving Japanese on Tinian have to be dealt with, however.

American warships for the first time since Pearl Harbor lay at anchor in Guam's Apra harbor. These ships, and American flags triumphantly flying over Guam, testified to U. S. recapture of the island's strategic establishments.

MacArthur held up his end with new blows at Halmahera island, an inviting stepping-stone about half-way from New Guinea to Mindanao in the southern Philippines.

Lt. Gen. George Kenney's fliers, who destroyed 45 planes there Thursday, went back to bomb, strafe and set fires on Halmahera's east coast.

The new secret weapon employed on Tinian was described by War Correspondent Clinton Green as "one of the most fearful instruments of death from America's arsenal," and so powerful "it is extremely doubtful whether any human being within 100 feet of its action would be able to survive." Security prevented the least hint of what the weapon is.

Chinese troops battered at the walls of ancient Tengchong, main Japanese base in southwest China through which runs the Burma road. Chungking seemed confident the city would fall shortly, clearing the enemy from another stronghold blocking reopening of (Turn to Page Seven)

20,000 Made Idle By Labor Disputes

The number of workers idle today because of labor disputes climbed to about 20,000 today when a strike among employees of five Detroit plants producing parts for a Pratt and Whitney airplane engines virtually shut down the factories.

Seven thousand men were employed in the five plants of the Chevrolet-Gear and Axle division of General Motors Corporation. Other disputes throughout the nation approximately 13,000 were away from their jobs.

A dispute at the General Steel Castings Company's commonwealth plant, Granite City, Ill., kept around 4,300 workers off the job.

At Roebeling, N. J., the executive board of local 2111, United Steel Workers of America (CIO) prepared for a mass meeting to attempt to end the walkout of 3,000 wire plant employees of John A. Roebeling and Sons.

At Buffalo, N. Y., where 800 night shift workers of the Houdaille-Hershey Corp. Houde Engineering division plant were idle because of a wage dispute.

Still unsettled were disputes involving 700 workers at the John 500 glass workers at Ball Bros. Company, Muncie, Ind.; 100 machinists at the Federal Mogul Co., San Francisco, Cal.

Berlin Says Pisa Tower Destroyed

New York, July 31—(P)—NBC said today the Berlin radio had reported the leaning tower of Pisa destroyed by Allied artillery fire. There was no Allied confirmation.

German broadcasts yesterday declared the Allies had opened fire on the landmark.

Italian editions of the army newspaper Stars and Stripes said last week that "the krauts have no scruples in using historical monuments to save their skins—first Cassino and now the leaning tower of Pisa."

ACCIDENT NEAR KNOX

Oil City, July 31—(P)—Glenn H. Knorr, 14, of Knox, died in Oil City hospital today from a fractured skull received when a truck overturned late yesterday. Two companions, Joseph Agnello, 15, and Kieth Nale, 14, were reported in "serious" condition at Oil City hospital.

NAZI ATTACKS STALL EIGHTH ARMY IN ITALY

German Units Lash Out in Effort to Knock Allied Spearheads Farther Back from Florence

BATTLE FOR THE ARNO

By NOLAN NORGAARD

Rome, July 31—(P)—Counter-attacking at every opportunity, Nazi infantry and tanks held the Eighth Army at bay in the hills 5 to 7 miles southwest of Florence today at a cost hardly likely to prove worthwhile to the enemy's depleted armies, Allied headquarters said.

Artillery laid down thundering curtains of fire on German units which lashed out in an effort to knock the Allied spearheads farther back from Florence's last defenses.

Along the Fifth army's 30-mile front on the lower Arno, river big guns on both sides continued to trade fire across the stream. There were no indications the Americans had penetrated beyond the southern limits of Pisa.

On the east coast the Polish troops last were reported fighting in the streets of Senigallia, about 40 miles northwest of Rome and 90 air-line miles from the mouth of the Po river.

Veteran pilots of the desert air force joined the artillery in raining explosives on the attacking Nazi columns south of Florence. Official reports said the enemy suffered heavy losses.

The Germans obviously have succeeded in temporarily warding off the Anzac thrust, which two days ago threatened to crack through the mountain positions and drive into the great Tuscan art center.

Associated Press Correspondent Lynn Heinzerling, with the eighth Army south of Florence, reported a growing suspicion that the German command in Italy had ordered the last ditch stand before the city, hope of appeasing Hitler's wrath and demonstrating loyalty to him.

Expect Turkey To Announce Break

London, July 31—(P)—German reports indicated today the Nazis had given up all hope of holding any strings on Turkey. They predicted the Turkish government would announce Wednesday plans for breaking off economic and diplomatic relations with the Reich.

There were indications, too, that the Germans losing their grip on Bulgaria.

The Nazi news agency Transocean said in a Berlin broadcast that German newspapers were carrying full reports from Ankara and Sofia, and had mentioned the possibility of the Allies getting air and naval bases in Turkey.

Earlier the official German news agency DNB said the Turkish National assembly would be informed on Wednesday of decision to break diplomatic and economic relations with the Reich. Dispatches from Ankara said German diplomats were booking passage out of the country.

Oil City Mourns News That Home Town Ace Is Missing

Oil City, July 31—(P)—Telephone calls, telegrams and letters from sympathizing Americans everywhere continued to be received today by the family of Lt. Col. Francis S. Gabreski, ace of American aces now listed as missing in action over Germany.

The community, too, joined in expressions of sympathy to the parents of the missing fighter pilot, whose record of 31 enemy planes destroyed has achieved world-wide recognition. Rep. Leon H. Gavin (R-Pa.) promised every effort is being exerted to uncover more details.

Besides word from the War Department Saturday that "Gabbys" has been unreported since July 20, the only other information given to the family was a report from Gabreski's mates who said his plane had been shot down in action over Germany.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gabryszewski, spent yesterday in seclusion at Erie, where one of "Gabbys" sisters, Bernice, is a cadet nurse. They returned home last night—speechless with grief.

Prayers for the safety of the top-scoring ace were offered during mass yesterday by the Rev. John L. Mieczkowski and parishioners of the Church of the Assumption of the B. V. M., where Gabreski once worshipped.

At Prairie Du Chien, Wis., "Gabbys" fiancée, Kay Cochran, also prayed for some favorable (Turn to Page Seven)

New Record For Attendance Is Set For Young People's Party Held Friday Evening

A new record for attendance at the community young people's parties in Beatty School was set on Friday evening. Over 600 young people in their teens and twenties were attracted to the third community party, sponsored by the Community YTA Council.

The showers failed to discourage anyone because plans had been made to take the party indoors, if the weather proved unfavorable. In spite of a couple of brief showers, the young people enjoyed dancing on the outside court until the floor show went on at 10:30.

Nick Geracimos and Bill Clinger had charge of the floor show.

Teresa Finn's two singing numbers were enthusiastically received by the young people.

Marilyn Dobbs gave a clever exhibition of tap dancing and acrobatic dancing.

Jack Weller's Frank Sinatra number drew quite a response from the feminine aggregation.

Fern Mostert gave her number inside the gym, making a real hit with the young people, who ended the evening by joining in the singing of the choruses of a couple of the numbers.

A number of adults dropped in to watch the young people enjoying themselves and quite a large group of children stopped in to ask when there would be a party for them. Some of the younger boys stayed to help the refreshments committee keep track of the empty pop bottles.

The next Community Recreation Night plan for all ages will be held on Friday evening, August 11th, on the Beatty school premises.

The committee met last evening to block out plans, which promise to cover a wide range of interests. Over 2,000 attended the last Community Recreation Night for everyone.

Further details of last Friday night's party, with the members of committees, will be published in tomorrow evening's edition of the Times-Mirror.

Hundreds Needed In Plants Within Next Thirty Days

Warren industry within the next 45 days will have places in the various plants for 600 men and 500 women. The manpower situation is getting one that is requiring the most intensive search for men and women that has ever been experienced in the section. Every plant in the city is enjoying a busy season and the need for more and more employees is becoming grave.

Scores of men and women from Warren are working in various towns and cities. The high cost of living in larger places is such that any extra money earned is quickly dissipated.

Manager David Levine of the office of the Manpower Commission stated this morning that the demands on the office are such that it keeps the whole force busy at all times handling the demands for labor from the various plants.

An intensive canvass of the whole county is being planned whereby every possible man will be brought into the city.

Efforts are also being made by employment offices in areas where men and women are being released to get them to come to this city to aid in relieving the shortage that exists.

Reports are also to the effect that the housing proposition in Warren is becoming critical. There are a few desirable houses left for rental and many newcomers to the city are purchasing homes not only in the city proper but in suburbs and small towns nearby. The realty prices are also on the ascendancy and the small type of houses are finding ready sale at prices from $1500 to $2500 more than during the past years. Realty men are being hard pressed for suitable homes. Apartments are also scarce and efforts of landlords to secure priorities for both rooms and toilet equipment are not being rewarded as they should be. Work on several apartments about the city are being held up by lack of material.

At the present time the Manpower office has requisitions for a number of tool and die makers in a local plant here and it is urged that all competent men be listed at the Manpower office as soon as possible. Laborers too are urgently needed in several plants and all able bodied men even unskilled can find places immediately.

Struthers-Wells Co. Acquires Buildings and Land of Betts Co.

The Betts buildings and land comprise an acre of land and two buildings. These will be remodeled to some extent and one occupied as a maintenance shop and the other as a garage. On land to the rear of these structures a new building will be erected.

Moose Legion Degree Picnic Was a Success

The annual picnic of the Legion Degree of the Loyal Order of Moose was held Sunday at Oakview Park. This degree has its headquarters for the district at Bradford. There was a big delegation from Bradford, Kane and other towns in attendance. Over 100 were present and during the meeting a class of 35 from Warren was initiated.

The committee in charge had arranged a program for the afternoon and evening that was thoroughly enjoyed and the refreshments were all that could have been desired.

The Moose is highly active in this section at the present time and the new lodge at Corry has started well and work of placing a lodge in Union City will be undertaken during this month. Merle Clark, who formed the Corry lodge, will conduct the Union City drive.

'Pop' Concert Is Enjoyed By Large Crowd

The "Pop" concert presented by the V. F. W. Band Friday evening was very well received by a large audience. The weather, which had been somewhat threatening, was quite co-operative, and no rain fell until after the concert had ended and the audience dispersed.

The program was conducted very ably by Ledy Williams, director of the V. F. W. band. While all of the numbers proved attractive to the audience, the piccolo solo, by T. W. Dunn, and the vocal selection, by Edmund Snyder both merited and received especially enthusiastic applause.

After a few minutes' delay in getting the chairs set up, the program moved along with a nice balance and without interruption to its stirring climax with "The Stars and Stripes Forever" and the audience joining in singing "The Star Spangled Banner".

Limit Placed On Members Of Book Club

A membership limit has been set for the Young People's Book Club, organized two weeks ago at the Public Library. A few openings remain. Some are being held for those who have signed up but have been away on vacations or cherry picking. However, anyone who is in senior high school or who graduated in June is eligible for this new community young people's club. If the number who apply for membership exceeds the limit set for this club, another group will be organized.

The Book Club's meeting is tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the public library. Meetings will be held once every two weeks until the close of summer vacation period. The club will continue to meet during the school year but a schedule has not yet been decided upon.

The program is planned to appeal to the interests and special needs of the young people in the club. The young people will share the planning of the program and participate in it. Anyone who wishes to inquire about the details of the club may see Mrs. Olive A. Huff at the Warren Public Library or call her at 1085.

When the cops arrived harmony had been restored and then the coat and money were returned to the owner and all reigned serene in the Allegheny valley.

HAD RECORD CROWD

Saturday was a busy day at the Warren Outing Club, as a half dozen picnics were held on the grounds. The tennis courts were in full blast and scores enjoyed the bathing. Saturday evening dancing and the floor show also drew huge crowds and there were many present from other towns in this vicinity. The floor show, which was especially good, scored heavily and Joe Beveling, who is booking the shows for the club, reported he had one of the best of the season coming for this week.

Bowling Alleys Being Conditioned

That the fall sport season is fast approaching is forcibly brought to mind by the fact that local bowling alleys are being put in condition for fall and winter activities.

Workmen from Buffalo have been in town for about a week, and have about finished servicing the alleys at the Elks. Today Thad Lawson announced that the Arcade alleys, which have been open all summer, will be closed while they are being put in condition for another season.

It is expected that all alleys in town will be serviced while the men are in Warren.

Individual Sales of Bonds Shows a Slight Improvement

The Warren County War Finance Committee reports another small improvement in sales of War Bonds to individuals toward the close of the 5th War Loan Campaign. Including July 26, sales of Series "E" Bonds reached 53 per cent of Warren County's quota and total sales to individuals finally passed the 50 per cent mark. Sales to individuals throughout the entire State of Pennsylvania have not reached quota established. Members of the local War Finance Committee are still hoping that last hour subscriptions turned in at banks and by payroll allotments will bring the county's quota more in line with others in the State instead of lagging so far behind results in previous War Loan Campaigns. The huge oversubscription by corporations has more than filled the total county quota and the number of sales has been quite satisfactory in comparison to other counties.

Letters to the Editor

Times-Mirror Warren, Pa.

Dear Editor,

I am enclosing a program of the celebration our Company had on July 5th. The day was a most enjoyable one for our employees, families as it gave them an opportunity to see their relatives, friends and other employees producing Army and Navy shells for our government.

We are proud of our employees and they are proud of the fact that they are producing material to help save our country and defeat our enemies. This is a special treat when all concerned in the company and all of the employees are working together like one big family, and that is the way I want our organization to continue after the war is over. Our employees have been very much interested in the bond drives and have raised over $50,000 in both the Fourth and Fifth War loan drives. At this time, we employ about 2,500 people, and you will notice by reading our souvenir program that we have produced five million shells.

Being a Warren County boy and a reader of your daily paper, I continue to be interested in the people in Warren County and other nearby counties and look for the news each day in your paper.

Hoping to call at your office sometime in the near future, I remain,

Yours Very Truly, AMERICAN MANUFACTURING COMPANY OF TEXAS

Gift Boxes For Soldiers Standardized

For the benefit of the boys on the fighting fronts, Ralph W. DeLancey, manager of the Erie District War Production Board office, today called attention of merchants and box jobbers to the necessity of immediately filing priority applications for the purchase of standardized overseas gift containers.

Mr. DeLancey explained that to obtain boxes designed for mailing of holiday gifts to military personnel overseas, retailers and jobbers should quickly file applications for priority ratings so that the boxes will be available to users during the overseas Christmas mailing period, Sept. 15 to Oct. 15.

Application forms and assistance to retailers and box jobbers are directly available through the Erie district WPB office, which serves Erie, Crawford, Venango, Warren, Forest, Elk, McKean, Potter, and Cameron counties. So far, box priority applications have been lagging in some parts of this region.

The Army and Navy in cooperation with the WPB have developed a standard Christmas gift box for overseas use. Priorities assigned will be used by the retailer or jobber to purchase boxes directly from the mill.

Retailers may sell overseas boxes as items of merchandise or use them as a service item, in preparing customers' gift purchases for overseas mailing. Other boxes which meet post office specifications for overseas mailing may be used to supplement the limited supply of standardized boxes, Mr. DeLancey said.

Extraordinary Cane Gift To Warren Man

Harry Shawkey, cane constructor extraordinary, is for once on the receiving end instead of the delivering end in the manufacture of his favorite commodity. Mr. Shawkey has been presented with a cane made by W. A. Hutchison, Tarentum, who also enjoys the hobby of making canes.

The cane presented to Mr. Shawkey is made of hickory wood, with the bark on it, and the handle has a head made of curly maple from Fayette county, with dark rings of purple-heart wood from Dutch Guiana, South America. And a gray oak ring from a piece of wood taken from Perry's Flagship, "The Niagara" which was under water in Lake Erie for 100 years. The ferrule of the cane is made of pearwood.

This unusual piece is being shown in one of the Liberty street windows of the Warren National Bank during this week.

They were well too. You'd Be So Nice to Come Home To. And there were few people in the room who doubted for one instant that Angelica Saunders herself would be more than nice to come home to.

Louise, her cocktail forgotten, watched her sister with pride, and said to Dick, her voice breaking a little, "It's terrible that Jimmie never came home to her. Poor Angel."

Dick studied Louise's profile for a moment before he answered. "You thought," she said at last, "that I was a war hero's wife—that is, in the accepted sense of the word. Some of their husbands didn't live long enough to become heroes. A lot of them were just GI stiffs who happened to collide with a Nazi or Jap bullet in the ordinary routine of life in a fox-hole—just names on a casualty list. I see a lot of these wives as I go about my work, and they're taking it with their chin up. Angel isn't the only one to be pitted in fact—"

Dick did not continue the subject. He studied Louise speculatively. Her profile was still turned toward him, her lips slightly parted, her chin tilted a little. "Why, she's beautiful," he thought. "She's even more beautiful than Angel. But I can't quite figure her out."

WOOLING "ONE-FOURTH OF A NATION"

All of the campaigning or lack of campaigning by the presidential candidates, all the speech-making and tub-thumping and rallies are going to be aimed at only one quarter of the American electorate. At least that is the assertion of Dr. George Gallup's poll, which says that three out of four voters have already made up their minds.

Dr. Gallup is a feeler of the public pulse whose diagnoses of opinion are usually accurate. If you disbelieve the figures in this case, you can sample your own circle of acquaintances. You might even find that the three-out-of-four estimate is conservative.

But even if less than 10 million of the approximately 40 million civilian voters are still undecided, that minority is eminently worth wooing. For, with the voters in the armed forces, they hold the balance of power. In the 1940 presidential election, aside from nine southern states that are persistently and perennially Democratic, the winner's majority was less than 25 per cent in 35 of the 39 states.

Who are the still-to-be-convinced voters who will probably decide the election? It's easy to say who they aren't. They aren't those who vote a straight ticket for regional reasons, or because pa and grandpa always voted that way. They aren't federal job holders, or people dependent on the ward or city political boss for their livelihood. They don't belong to the two sizeable groups who think that President Roosevelt either can do no wrong, or can do nothing right.

Some may be vacillating and weak willed, and some may be indifferent. But our guess is that the majority of this minority is made up of intelligent citizens who are impervious to emotional catch phrases, unswayed by party prejudice, given to a long view of a subject and a desire to hear all the evidence.

If that is so, they aren't getting much help from their fellow citizens. This year, when time is precious and the stakes are great, much time and breath again are being wasted in unproductive and frequently unbecoming arguments between two voters whose minds are sealed against change, but who still consider a vote against their man as a personal affront.

The epithets have already started flying — phony, dictator, Communist, Fascist, win-the-war, lose-the-war and so on. Once again voters are thinking that if they can call the most names in the loudest voice, they have achieved a triumph of political logic.

Wouldn't it be nice if the convinced three-quarters should wear lapel buttons stating, "I've already made up my mind," and let the poor independent voter read the papers, listen to the candidates, and make his decision in a quiet atmosphere devoid of mud-slinging.

TURKEY TO BREAK

Berlin insists that Wednesday will see Turkey break diplomatic and economic relations with Germany as a prelude to joining the Allies in the war.

That's highly important if true, for while we no longer need Turkey's aid to beat the groggy Hitler, yet her active assistance in the immediate future might greatly shorten the war. The Nazi dictator is fighting for time, which is his best ally in his frantic effort to find an avenue of escape. Much depends on how hard the Allies can hit him during the next three months before bad weather sets in to give him a respite.

The Berlin report says Turkey will be asked to grant the Allies air and naval bases and that her own entrance into the war will be a matter of course.

The significance of this is that it would at long last give the United Nations a chance to clean the Germans out of the Balkans.

TOO TIRED

For weeks German armies in the east have been rapidly advancing backward. That's tiring. When they stop, the Russians pound them. That's wearying. And now when they are almost too tired to raise a hand, the Fuehrer reinstitutes that stiff-armed Nazi salute.

So we can believe the German radio when it says that pledges of loyalty to Hitler have been slow in coming through from the eastern front because of "extreme fatigue".

SP

SP in the Navy means shore patrol, the equivalent to an MP in the Army. The SP is usually a motherly type who has been given a course in jiu-jitsu and the job of watching over the men on liberty to see that they don't get into trouble. He is, however, called everything but "Mom." In most cases the SP has a physique similar to the Rock of Gibraltar and wears an expression that would frighten Frankenstein. He is particularly annoying when you are trying to catch a little sleep at the USO while waiting for your train. It seems that every SP in town wakes you up to ask for your liberty pass or leave papers.

Washington In Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Your Capital In Wartime: One pre-war custom that seems to have disappeared here is that of dismissing employees in midafternoon when the mercury goes into the stratosphere.

The Capital has just had surcease from a three-week heat wave that had everyone gasping. Down in those temporary frame buildings that line the Mall, employees worked in oven-like heat, that was held in from day-to-day by nightily locked doors and windows.

On those days when the thermometer registered in the 90's, supervisors held conferences on what to do: decided the war effort wouldn't permit dismissal even for a few afternoon hours. A medical and nursing staff was put on the alert and the sweat-soaked, weary workers worked on. No collapses were reported.

Most of the government buildings are air-conditioned, but not all and none of the temporary buildings which house so many of the war workers. In most cases, top executives have individual cooling units for their offices.

CHESTER BOWLES, director of OPA, is taking a leaf from the morale-builder book used by war industries in trying to show workers how little bit they do contributes to the job of winning the war.

Under the direction of a progress information committee, the big picture of OPA's accomplishments is given weekly or oftener

the effect that Lester Blair who was injured in an automobile accident several days ago is resting comfortably and that George Keener, hurt in the same accident, is now able to sit up in a sun parlor at the hospital.

In 1934 Youngville firemen were called out yesterday to fight grass fire that had assumed dangerous proportions. At the time the alarm was sounded the thermometers about Youngville registered 102 degrees.

The 20th annual reunion of the Alabaugh family will be held Aug. 15 at the Odd Fellows hall in East Hickory. The family is a large one and many from Warren county will attend.

Reports from Mt. Gretna where Company I is in camp at the present time state that the field inspection held there was done under skies that turned old Sol down until the mercury stood at 126.

Scout Executive Tom Ewing is devoting his time to the Boy Scouts in camp at Gowanda is in to everybody from supervisor to file clerk and messenger. Movies on rationing, price controls and black markets are shown the employees and in all instances, the importance of the contribution of the little job to the whole is stressed.

Once every few weeks, Bowles, himself, talks to the employees during the lunch hour. Other departments here are thinking of inaugurating a similar system. Some industries have been using it since Pearl Harbor—particularly those producing planes, ships and parachutes. Employees discover how often lives of the fighting men hang on some little monotonous wire twisting job or dead-end routine inspections.

OPA workers are finding out how some little typing job or the running of reports from this office to that helps to hold the inflation front.

WALLACE COLMAN, Pied Piping of the Public Buildings Administration, reports that for the first time he can say that all government buildings here are free of rats.

In one of the worst rat-infested cities in the United States, that kind of a report should be lettered in gold. Colman's most recent big job was chasing the big rodents out of the brand new Pentagon building.

This doesn't mean that there never will be another rat around the federal buildings, but Colman's flying squads now can go into action whenever they get reports of a newcomer, without having to concentrate most of their time on the colonies.

The girls employed at Johnson Brothers store gave a dinner last evening at the Oleta Team Room honoring Miss Margaret Larson, who is leaving the store. Later in the evening she was presented with a fine gift.

STRATOSPHERE, ARTILLERY

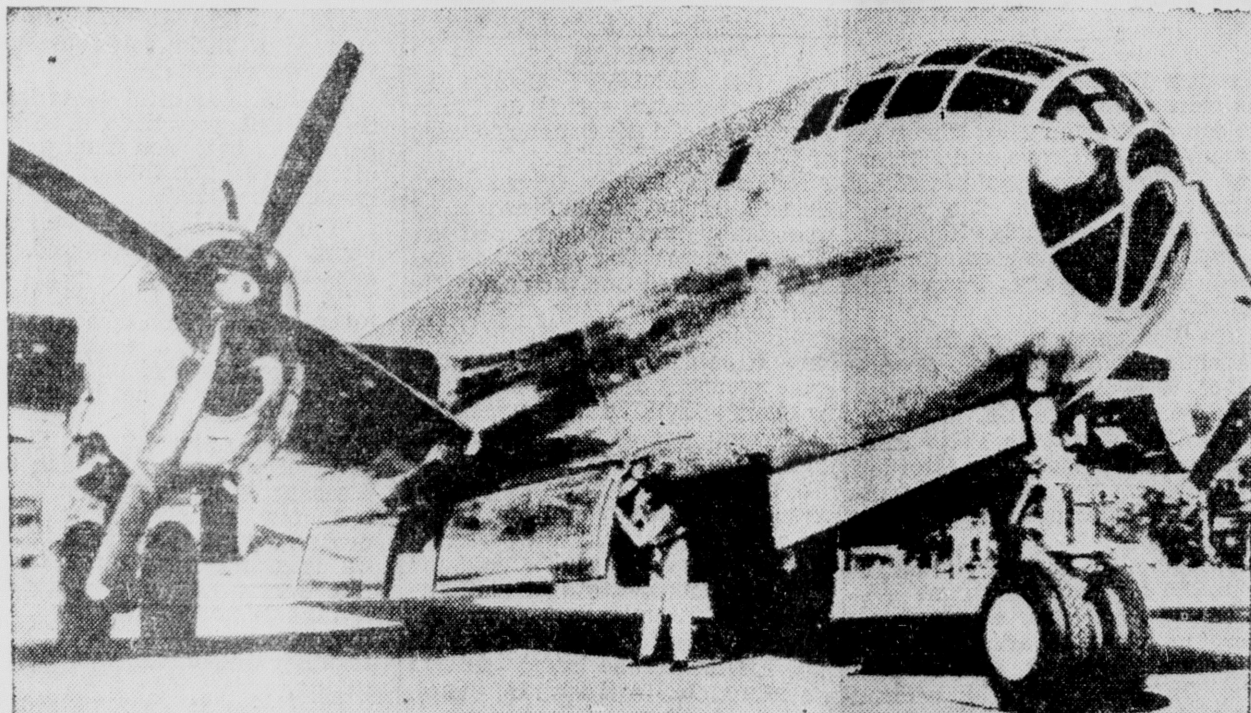

When the Germans bombed Paris from 75 miles away in World War I they were the first to make use of the lower resistance of that layer of air known as the stratosphere.

POPULATION COMPARISON

Just prior to the war New York City, including suburbs, had a population of 10,901,000; London, 9,610,000; Tokyo, 5,311,000; Berlin, 4,288,000; Chicago, 4,264,000; and Paris, 3,783,000.

The Galveston hurricane of 1900 was the greatest death-dealing disaster in the history of the United States.

How the B-29's Carry So Much Destruction

Here you're let in on the secret of the B-29 Superfortress's big bombard: two bomb bays, fore and aft of the wings in the fuselage. Bombs are dropped alternately from each bay to maintain center of gravity. A soldier stands by the fore pair of doors, while the aft pair can be seen open at right, behind the wing section.

HOLLYWOOD—Ben Hecht was going over his script for "The House of Dr. Edwards" with co-stars Ingrid Bergman and Gregory Peck, who will make it under Alfred Hitchcock's direction.

"This story deals with what used to be called lunacy," Hecht began. "Now they're known as paranoiacs." He beamed at Peck. "That's you," he said, and went on to discuss psychoses, psychiatry, psychoanalysis, neuroses, and other pleasant ramifications of his theme. "Now, is everything clear?" he concluded.

"All but one point," grinned Peck. "What made you get us into this?"

"That's obvious," said Hecht. "Paranoia!"

The suspense has been awful, but now you can relax. Brian Donlevy will be moustached, as usual, in "Two Years Before the Mast." Brian plays the author, Richard Henry Dana, and originally was to have been clean-shaven, but his daughter Judith Ann, 15 months old, objected. He says.

THE Florida shore-line re-created for "Sunday Dinner for a Soldier" includes some California sand carted from the Pacific beach to the studio stage, and also some good old California sand fleas that it'd be spray-gunned to quell an epidemic of red velvet on thespian epidermises.

Another Preston Sturges American classic: "Hail the Conqueror in Hero." It's a sermon in roars, a fable in laughter, and boosts the Eddie Bracken stock a notch higher.

Joan Blondell, as provocative Aunt Sissy in "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," is wearing vintage attire of the 1915 era, her first essay at costumes after a screen career spent mainly in dresses designed to reveal shapely legs and curves, and therefore snugly fit. Aunt Sissy, with loose waistlines and ankle-length skirts, can take a deep breath as Joan never could before.

Creal Keeps Golf Title Fourth Year

Tim Creal retained for the fourth straight year the Conewago Valley Country Club golf championship yesterday by whipping Bill Rice 13-12 in a scheduled 36-hole match.

Creal, in taking his final opponent, had one of his typical rounds on the opening 18, by shooting a 3-over-par 75 for the route to erase all chance for Rice as he came through the with an 8-up advantage at the terminal.

The champion started poorly, getting bogies on 1, 2, 4, and 5, but birdied on the 3rd and 9th to put in a 4-up count at the end of nine holes.

Rice at the same time was playing tough breaks along the line especially after evening up the match on the 5th when his shots began to hook slightly and cause him to lose several strokes while Creal started to blast down the middle on every one, after playing out of a tough lie on the 6th and reeled off four straight holes to lead his contestant 4-up at the end of nine.

Creal shattered all hopes for Rice on the second nine by shooting a one-over-par 37 over the difficult course, taking an 8-up lead at the end of the morning session. Rice picked up and managed to hold him down on the first two 4-par holes but faltered in the following four then came back to play even again on the remaining three, but gave the champion plenty of lead on him.

Creal came out for the afternoon session with one of his best rounds of the year, coming within two strokes of the course record of 32 and ending the match on the 20th hole. He took the first five holes in succession from Rice with a three under par showing and except for a bad break on the 27th would have tied the record for nine holes and the 18-hole record of 68.

A fair-sized crowd gathered to follow the first two rounds, and Creal, undoubtedly the top golfer in Warren circles gave them plenty to marvel at as he played almost flawless golf after the first five holes.

In the second flight championship run, "Hazz" Hubbs battled Johnny Trevenen even through the 18-hole match to win on the last hole with a birdie, one-up.

Both golfers had excellent rounds, but Hubbs' lengthy drives, averaging 250 yards, plus his accurate fairway play proved an advantage and gave him the tilt.

In the consolation event, only 3 remain after yesterday's quarter-finals with Emmons Jones beating "Sparky" Saylor 2-up after an even match all the way through.

Second Largest Crowd of the Season Sees Disappointing Monessen Team Lose to Forge

The National Forge defeated Monessen Grays at Wilder Field Sunday afternoon by a score of 10 to 4 before the second largest crowd of the season, topped only by Hans Wagner's All-Stars.

The Monessen club appeared on the field a half hour late and it was not until four o'clock that the game was started. The team came here somewhat over-rated and proved no more than fair competition to the National Forge. The Forge management is sorry that the team was so highly over-rated. On two occasions at least it was recommended as one of the best in the Pittsburgh district. Whether the entire team failed to make the trip could not be learned and the local management and players have decided that no colored team will be booked again this year unless it is the Homestead Grays.

The management expresses appreciation to the loyal fans who attended the game from nearby towns, some as far distant as Jamestown, and announces that the Buffalo Bell Aircraft Comets have been booked for next Sunday's attraction. At the same time attempt is being made to bring back the fast and snappy Brabner game, from Erie for August 13th.

In yesterday's game it was apparent who the winner would be from the opening gun, although the Grays were still in the ball game going into the eighth inning with the score 6 to 3, in favor of the locals. However, Forge scored four in the eighth, serving up the game. The Grays scored one in the third, and the Forge came back to tally one on the third. The Grays picked up two more runs in the fifth with the Forge showing another over in the same inning. Forge topped off the scoring in the eighth when Creola walked, Massa singled, Morrison tripled to score both runners. Natalie singled scoring Massa and scored on Solok's bingle.

Gagliardi pitched two and one-third innings when he developed a sore arm and was relieved by "Diz" Hines who turned in a beautiful relief game. Creola, Massa, Natalie and Solok each had two hits. Solok played a good game at first, having a perfect day in the field and batting in three runs with his two hits.

Thursday evening at the State Hospital diamond, Forge will meet the Corry Merchants. The box score:

In a game that was wild and woolly from the opening gun until the finish in the tenth, Struthers Wells lost to the Corry Merchants at Corry yesterday afternoon by a score of 14 to 13. In the extra frame the Merchants literally chased the Ironworkers out of the city with a barrage of base hits and runs, including three bingles, a base on balls and an error.

Jim Rose started on the mound for the locals, but gave 'way to Johnny Kane after he had pitched seven and two-thirds innings, during which he was nicked for 13 bingles. Kane was no more effective and, after he had put the tying run on base, was relieved by Schussler. At this point a base on

Although there was a total of 30 hits by the two teams, there were very few for extra bases. Kennedy, Crandall and McLean hit for doubles, while Crandall and Martin connected for triples.

Besides playing Tuesday against the Newberry team, the Struthers club will entertain the Giants on Sunday, will travel to Stockton where they will be hosts of the Hope Windows of Jamestown and have negotiations on for a game either Thursday or Friday at Russell Field.

One of the veterans is their pitcher "Hoxie" Onik, who will be seen in action on Tuesday evening. To those fans who have been following baseball for a number of years, he will be remembered as a pitcher who came to Warren on two different occasions with a fast traveling semi-pro team and gave a real account of himself in each of the games. In a game that was wild and woolly from the opening gun until the finish in the tenth, Struthers Wells lost to the Corry Merchants at Corry yesterday afternoon by a score of 14 to 13. In the extra frame the Merchants literally chased the Ironworkers out of the city with a barrage of base hits and runs, including three bingles, a base on balls and an error.

Jim Rose started on the mound for the locals, but gave 'way to Johnny Kane after he had pitched seven and two-thirds innings, during which he was nicked for 13 bingles. Kane was no more effective and, after he had put the tying run on base, was relieved by Schussler. At this point a base on balls, a hit and an error completed the route, much to the satisfaction of the Corry fans.

Although there was a total of 30 hits by the two teams, there were very few for extra bases. Kennedy, Crandall and McLean hit for doubles, while Crandall and Martin connected for triples.

Tuesday evening Struthers will play the Newberys of Jamestown at Russell Field and on the following Sunday will play the Buffalo Colored Giants on the home diamond here at three o'clock.

The score by innings:

Second Largest Crowd of the Season Sees Disappointing Monessen Team Lose to Forge

The National Forge defeated Monessen Grays at Wilder Field Sunday afternoon by a score of 10 to 4 before the second largest crowd of the season, topped only by Hans Wagner's All-Stars.

The Monessen club appeared on the field a half hour late and it was not until four o'clock that the game was started. The team came here somewhat over-rated and proved no more than fair competition to the National Forge. The Forge management is sorry that the team was so highly over-rated. On two occasions at least it was recommended as one of the best in the Pittsburgh district. Whether the entire team failed to make the trip could not be learned and the local management and players have decided that no colored team will be booked again this year unless it is the Homestead Grays.

The management expresses appreciation to the loyal fans who attended the game from nearby towns, some as far distant as Jamestown, and announces that the Buffalo Bell Aircraft Comets have been booked for next Sunday's attraction. At the same time attempt is being made to bring back the fast and snappy Brabner game, from Erie for August 13th.

In yesterday's game it was apparent who the winner would be from the opening gun, although the Grays were still in the ball game going into the eighth inning with the score 6 to 3, in favor of the locals. However, Forge scored four in the eighth, serving up the game. The Grays scored one in the third, and the Forge came back to tally one on the third. The Grays picked up two more runs in the fifth with the Forge showing another over in the same inning. Forge topped off the scoring in the eighth when Creola walked, Massa singled, Morrison tripled to score both runners. Natalie singled scoring Massa and scored on Solok's bingle.

Gagliardi pitched two and one-third innings when he developed a sore arm and was relieved by "Diz" Hines who turned in a beautiful relief game. Creola, Massa, Natalie and Solok each had two hits. Solok played a good game at first, having a perfect day in the field and batting in three runs with his two hits.

Thursday evening at the State Hospital diamond, Forge will meet the Corry Merchants. The box score:

U. S. First Army headquarters revealed yesterday that the tough second armored "hell on wheels" division, once commanded by Lt. Gen. George S. The second spearheaded the invasion of French Morocco in November, 1942, and a year ago it smashed across Sicily to cut the island in half and to capture thou- sands of Italian and German sol- diers.

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, July 31—(P)—Fairly strong American forces today advanced "well into" Avranches, the coastal city at the base of the Cotentin peninsula, near Brittany. Other troops captured La Reaiviere and La Freteire in an encircling maneuver aimed at trapping the German garrison still holding Torgni-sur-Vire.

London, July 31—(P)—Berlin radio said today that the Americans had taken Granville, 16 miles southwest of Coutances.

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, July 31—(P)—A high-speed American armored column, bursting through the Germans' scrambled Seventh Army, has raced into Avranches in a dash of 18 miles from last reported positions and established today a pivotal line threatening the flank of the entire German defense in western France.

Avranches is 60 miles across the Normandy peninsula from the D-Day beachheads, and a firm grip on the town would permit the

CAPITULATION OF KAUNAS IS ADMITTED

Military Spokesman Obviously Is Preparing German Home Front For Fall of Polish Capital

PLUNGE INTO TRIANGLE

By the Associated Press
London, July 31—The Germans indicated today that the Russians may have reached Warsaw proper and their communiqué acknowledged the fall of the former Lithuanian capital of Kaunas after a fateful Sunday in which other Soviet forces stormed seven miles inside the Suwalki triangle of East Prussia.

"At Warsaw, German troops prevented strong Soviet forces from breaking through toward the town," the official Nazi agency DNE said.

A Berlin radio commentator said soon afterwards that the Russians were drawn up in an arc six miles from the Polish capital, within sight and easy artillery range of its old spires. The last Moscow report placed the Red army 20 miles southeast, but Berlin told of fresh retreats below the Polish capital.

The military spokesman obviously was preparing the German home front for early news of the fall of Warsaw.

Kaunas, second city of Lithuania with 152,365 population, lies 35 miles east of the pre-war East Prussian frontier, and on the Niemen river. Moscow reported Red troops well west of Kaunas and said the Germans were throwing in many fresh men and reserves to halt a Russian push into East Prussia itself.

The German Transocean agency said last Friday that Kaunas was (Turn to Page Seven)

Montgomery's British and Canadian forces launched an offensive on a seven-mile front from Caumont Sunday at dawn and smashed forward to a depth of eight miles in the enemy's center.

Another American spearhead, moving south from Coutances, had penetrated within three miles of the coastal city of Granville.

Just to the east, the Germans were putting up appreciable armored resistance on a line running roughly from Gavrav through Percy to Tessy-sur-Vire.

The advance to Avranches cut the highway to Paris, 180 miles due west.

Saipan, Marianas Island—(Delayed)—There's a question whether even Robert Ripley of "Believe It Or Not" fame would credit the tremendous weight of weapons required to blast the Japs from field trenches, brush holes, and caves during the final push on this island.

Every short-range weapon, from a carbine to flame-throwers was used on one 20-foot trench system the Marines pushed out along the coast north of Rapan City.

Candidates Are Being Picked In Seven States This Week

Politics takes a sudden spurt this week, more than three months ahead of the national election, with candidate-picking by parties in seven states and a meeting of Republican governors at St. Louis to boost Thomas E. Dewey's campaign for the presidency.

Renomination efforts of Rep. Hamilton Fish, New York Republican whom Dewey criticized last week on the grounds he had raised "racial and religious issues," and Both come up tomorrow. Fish is opposed by Augustus W. Bennett, Newburgh lawyer. The congressman said yesterday his attorney would bring libel action against Playwright Maxwell Anderson and other signers of an anti-Fish political advertisement.

Wendell L. Willkie agreed to represent Anderson as "a public service" when Fish had mentioned suing before.

Opponents Invite Libel Suit by Fish

Newburgh, N. Y., July 31—(P)—"All bluff and blather" is the comment of Playwright Maxwell Anderson on the declaration of Representative Hamilton Fish (R-N.Y.) that he will file libel actions against Anderson and other signers of an anti-Fish political advertisement.

Fish, seeking renomination at Tuesday's primary in the 29th district, announced yesterday he would file actions against the signers of what he termed "a scurrilous and defamatory political advertisement."

Anderson was chairman of the committee which published the advertisement in the Nyack, N. Y., Journal-News.

"If Mr. Fish will actually sue us and go through with the proceedings," said Anderson, "this is wonderful news. What we of the committee want is to get Fish's record before the voters. If we can get him into the court and compel an examination of his history, he will never again dare to enter a political campaign."

Fish filed a $250,000 libel action Friday against Robert F. Cutler, whose name appeared in the advertisement when it was published originally in the Ramapo Valley Independent at Suffern, N. Y.

The weather over the battlefield remained thick, as was the case yesterday when clouds forced some RAF heavy bombers supporting the British drive below Caumont to return to base with their bombs.

The Allies nevertheless were able to put some 300 British heavies, 450 American medium and light bombers, and 250 escorting fighters into the air yesterday to batter the German line between Villers Bocage and Caumont as a preliminary to the new British ground offensive.

The Texas Democrats are still at odds

Austin, Texas, July 31—(P)—Texas Democrats remained at odds today over the question of supporting the Roosevelt-Truman ticket.

From the state's turbulent county conventions Saturday—in which fist fights were reported from several counties—there emerged 93 county delegations pledged to support Roosevelt and 29 instructed to support the present "regular" electors named in state convention here May 23.

The "regular" electors remain unbowed to support the national convention failed to meet certain conditions.

Whether the state convention in Dallas Sept. 12 would break precedent and overrule the actions of the May convention by proposing a new set of electors remains a question. Never before this has this situation arisen

VACATION IS ABOUT OVER FOR CONGRESS

Lawmakers Undecided Whether to Start Another Holiday or Buckle Down to Vital Tasks

MAY CHANGE ROUTINE

BULLETIN
Washington, July 31—(P)—Congress ends a five weeks vacation tomorrow, undecided whether to start another long holiday or buckle down now to the job of charting the road back to peacetime economy.

The prospects are there will be no legislative business transacted for at least several weeks, to give half a dozen committees time to whip into shape reconversion legislation which has gained a "must" rating by the successes against Germany.

Original plans for an outright recess until after Labor Day have been all but abandoned because of the clamor for congress to "do something" to cushion the shock the war's end might have on the nation's employment and business.

Instead, an informal recess, with semi-weekly sessions attended by a handful of members, appears likely for a while.

Less than a quorum of lawmakers is expected to be on hand when the current holiday formally ends at noon tomorrow.

The legislative docket in both the senate and the house are virtually clear of major legislation.

Half a dozen committees and sub-committees on both sides of the capital are studying demobilization legislation. Ahead of them is the task of compromising their differences into tangible bills likely to win support on the senate and house floors.

Dewey Given Great Ovation In Pittsburgh

By JACK BELL

Pittsburgh, July 31—(P)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, asserting that the new deal had failed to plan for postwar reconversion, declared today "it may not be long before the most vital thing that faces every American is his opportunity to work."

Arriving here for conference with political, business and labor leaders, the Republican presidential nominee told a press conference the country should remember that in November it will be electing a president, "most of whose term will be in peace time."

Dewey, who was greeted by a large crowd at the railroad station and spectators lining the streets on a circuitous parade to a downtown hotel, said he had come to Pennsylvania to begin work on the too long delayed preparations for reconversion of industry which he said vitally involved employment after the war ends.

Cheering crowds which lined the sidewalks greeted Dewey as he rode in an open car with Governor Edward Martin of Pennsylvania along a circuitous route to the hotel. It was the first such demonstration accorded Dewey since he returned to Albany, N. Y., after accepting the Republican nomination at Chicago.

Mrs. Dewey rode behind in a closed car with Mrs. Martin. Although the city's large stores were closed until noon, there were a large number of spectators on hand for the parade. Estimates in the turnout varied, but Senator James J. Davis (R-Pa.) who was in the parade, said he thought approximately 25,000 persons were on hand at the railroad station or lining the streets.

Arriving at the hotel, Dewey prepared to plunge immediately into conferences which will take most of the day before he departs shortly before 10 p. m. for Springfield, Ill.

Ground Work Laid for a New Powerful Leap Toward The Long - Suffering Philippines

By J. B. KRUEGER Associated Press War Editor

Pacific Commanders Nimitz and MacArthur, attacking at both ends of their converging campaigns, rapidly laid the foundations today for a new, powerful leap toward the long-suffering Philippines.

Weekend communiqués told of a flurry of attacks on Japanese positions from Tinian in the Marianas to New Guinea, 1,300 miles to the south. The multitude of targets made it no easier for harassed Japan to guess which shell the pea was under.

The fighting men of Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, employing a "truly fearful" new secret weapon, bottled Japanese on Tinian's southern end, seized the island's main town and already had U. S. planes flying off Guam's Oroquieta peninsula airfield. Upward of 5,000 surviving Japanese on Tinian have to be dealt with, however.

American warships for the first time since Pearl Harbor lay at anchor in Guam's Apra harbor. These ships, and American flags triumphantly flying over Guam, testified to U. S. recapture of the island's strategic establishments.

MacArthur held up his end with new blows at Halmahera Island, an inviting stepping-stone about half-way from New Guinea to Mindanao in the southern Philippines.

Lt. Gen. George Kenney's fliers, who destroyed 45 planes there Thursday, went back to bomb, strafe and set fires on Halmahera's east coast.

The new secret weapon employed on Tinian was described by War Correspondent Clinton Green as "one of the most fearful instruments of death from America's arsenal," and so powerful "it is extremely doubtful whether any human being within 100 feet of its action would be able to survive."

Security prevented the least hint of what the weapon is.

Chinese troops battered at the walls of ancient Tengchong, main Japanese base in southwest China through which runs the Burma road. Chungking seemed confident the city would fall shortly, clearing the enemy from another stronghold blocking reopening of (Turn to Page Seven)

20,000 Made Idle By Labor Disputes

The number of workers idle today because of labor disputes climbed to about 20,000 today when a strike among employees of five Detroit plants producing parts for a Pratt and Whitney airplane engines virtually shut down the factories.

Seven thousand men were employed in the five plants of the Chevrolet Corp. and Axle division of General Motors Corporation. Other disputes throughout the nation approximately 13,000 weaver away from their jobs.

A dispute at the General Steel Castings Company's common wealth plant, Granite City, Ill., kept around 4,300 workers off the job.

At Roebing, N. J., the executive board of local 211, United Steel Workers of America (CIO) prepared for a mass meeting to attempt to end the walkout of 3,000 wire plant employees of John A. Roebing and Sons.

At Buffalo, N. Y., where 800 night shift workers of the Houdaille-Hershey Corp. Houde Engineering division plant were idle because of a wage dispute.

Still unsettled were disputes involving 700 workers at the John 500 glass workers at Ball Bros. Company, Muncie, Ind.; 100 machinists at the Federal Mogul Co., San Francisco, Cal.

Berlin Says Pisa Tower Destroyed

New York, July 31—(P)—NBC said today the Berlin radio had reported the leaning tower of Pisa destroyed by Allied artillery fire. There was no Allied confirmation.

German broadcasts yesterday declared the Allies had opened fire on the landmark.

Italian editions of the army newspaper Stars and Stripes said last week that "the krauts have no scruples in using historical monuments to save their skins—first Cassino and now the leaning tower of Pisa."

NAZI ATTACKS STALL EIGHTH ARMY IN ITALY

German Units Lash Out in Effort to Knock Allied Spearheads Farther Back from Florence

BATTLE FOR THE ARNO

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Rome, July 31—(P)—Counter-attacking at every opportunity, Nazi infantry and tanks held the Eighth Army at bay in the hills 5 to 10 miles southwest of Florence today at a cost hardly likely to prove worthwhile to the enemy's depleted armies, Allied headquarters said.

Artillery laid down thundering curtains of fire on German units which lashed out in an effort to knock the Allied spearheads farther back from Florence's last defense line.

Along the Fifth army's 30-mile front on the lower Arno, river big guns on both sides continued to trade fire across the stream. There were no indications the Americans had penetrated beyond the southern limits of Pisa.

On the east coast the Polish troops last were reported fighting in the streets of Senigallia, about 40 miles below Rimini and 90 air-line miles from the mouth of the Po river.

Veteran pilots of the desert air force joined the artillery in raining explosives on the attacking Nazi columns south of Florence. Official reports said the enemy suffered heavy losses.

The Germans obviously have succeeded in temporarily warding off the Anzac thrust, which two days ago threatened to crack through the mountain positions and drive into the great Tuscan art center.

Associated Press Correspondent Lynn Henzler, with the eighth Army south of Florence, reported a growing suspicion that the German command in Italy had ordered the last ditch stand before the city—hope of appeasing Hitler's wrath and demonstrating loyalty to him.

Expect Turkey To Announce Break

London, July 31—(P)—German reports indicated today the Nazis had given up all hope of holding any strings on Turkey. They predicted the Turkish government would announce Wednesday plans for breaking off economic and diplomatic relations with the Reich.

There were indications, too, that the Germans losing their grip on Bulgaria.

The Nazi news agency Transocean said in a Berlin broadcast that German newspapers were carrying full reports from Ankara and Sofia, and had mentioned the possibility of the Allies getting air and naval bases in Turkey.

Earlier the official German news agency DNE said the Turkish National assembly would be informed on Wednesday of decision to break diplomatic and economic relations with the Reich. Dispatches from Ankara said German diplomats were booking passage out of the country.

Oil City Mourns News That Home Town Ace Is Missing

Oil City, July 31—(P)—Telephone calls, telegrams and letters from sympathizing Americans everywhere continued to be received today by the family of Lt. Col. Francis S. Gabreski, ace of American aces now listed as missing in action over Germany.

The community, too, joined in expressions of sympathy to the parents of the missing fighter pilot, whose record of 31 enemy planes destroyed has achieved world-wide recognition. Rep. Leon H. Gavin (R-Pa.) promised every effort is being exerted to uncover more details.

Besides word from the War Department Saturday that "Gabby" has been unreported since July 20, the only other information given to the family was a report from Gabreski's mates who said his plane had been shot down in action over Germany.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gabryszewski, spent yesterday in seclusion at Erie, where one of "Gabby's" sisters, Bernice, is a cadet nurse. They returned home last night—speechless with grief.

Prayers for the safety of the top-scoring ace were offered during mass yesterday by the Rev. John L. Mieczkowski and parishioners of the Church of the Assumption of the B. V. M., where Gabreski once worshipped.

Individual Sales of Bonds Shows a Slight Improvement

The Warren County War Finance Committee reports another small improvement in sales of War Bonds to individuals toward the close of the 3th War Loan Campaign. Including July 26, sales of Series "E" Bonds reached 53 per cent of Warren County's quota and total sales to individuals finally passed the 50 per cent mark. Sales to individuals throughout the entire State of Pennsylvania have not reached quota established. Members of the local War Finance Committee are still hoping that last hour subscriptions turned in at banks and payroll allotments will bring this county's quota more in line with others in the State instead of lagging so far behind results in previous War Loan Campaigns. The huge oversubscription by corporations has more than filled the total county quota and the number of sales has been quite satisfactory in comparison to other counties.

Letters to the Editor

Times-Mirror Warren, Pa.

Dear Editor,

I am enclosing a program of the celebration, our company had on July 5th. The day was a most enjoyable one for our employees' families as it gave them an opportunity to see their relatives, friends and other employees producing Army and Navy shells for our government.

We are proud of our employees and they are proud of the fact that they are producing material to help save our country and defeat our enemies. This is a special time when all concerned in the company and all of the employees are working together like one big family, and that is the way I want our organization to continue after the war is over. Our employees have been very much interested in the bond drives and have raised over $50,000 in both the Fourth and Fifth War loan drives. At this time, we employ about 2500 people, and you will notice by reading our souvenir program that we have produced five million shells.

Being a Warren County boy and a reader of your daily paper, I continue to be interested in the people in Warren County and other nearby counties and look for the news each day in your paper.

Hoping to call at your office sometime in the near future, I remain,

Yours Very Truly, AMERICAN MANUFACTURING COMPANY OF TEXAS

Gift Boxes For Soldiers Standardized

For the benefit of the boys on the fighting fronts, Ralph W. DeLancey, manager of the Erie district War Production Board office, today called attention of merchants and box jobbers to the necessity of immediately filing priority applications for the purchase of standardized overseas gift containers.

Mr. DeLancey explained that to obtain boxes designed for mailing of holiday gifts to military personnel overseas, retailers and jobbers should quickly file applications for priority ratings so that the boxes will be available to users during the overseas Christmas mailing period, Sept. 15 to Oct. 15. Application forms and assistance to retailers and box jobbers are directly available through the Erie district WPB office, which serves Erie, Crawford, Venango, Warren, Forest, Elk, McKean, Potter, and Cameron counties. So far, box priority applications have been lagging in some parts of this region.

The Army and Navy in cooperation with the WPB have developed a standard Christmas gift box for overseas use. Priorities assigned will be used by the retailer or jobber to purchase boxes directly from the mill.

Retailers may sell overseas boxes as items of merchandise or use them as a service item, in preparing customers' gift purchases for overseas mailing. Other boxes which meet post office specifications for overseas mailing may be used to supplement the limited supply of standardized boxes, Mr. DeLancey said.

Extraordinary Cane Gift To Warren Man

Harry Shawkey, cane constructor extraordinary, is for once on the receiving end instead of the delivering and in the manufacture of his favorite commodity. Mr. Shawkey has been presented with a cane made by W. A. Hutchison, Tarentum, who also enjoys the hobby of making canes.

The cane presented to Mr. Shawkey is made of hickory wood, with the bark on it, and the handle has a head made of curly maple from Fayette county, with dark rings of purple-heart wood from Dutch Guiana, South America, and a gray oak ring from a piece of wood taken from Perry's Flagship, "The Niagara" which was under water in Lake Erie for 100 years. The ferrule of the cane is made of pearls.

This unusual piece is being shown in one of the Liberty street windows of the Warren National Bank during this week.

CLARENDON

Clarendon, July 25—Last Wednesday evening the Young Women's Auxiliary of the WSCS met at the home of Alice Smith with Ruth Hamilton in charge of Devotions, a business session was then held after which Gertrude Sleeman entertained with a very interesting program.

Chapter 21

THE SS Omaha, named for a gallant ship and loved by its patrons, was a small night club which had been more or less "made" by workers in defense plants located around Brooklyn. Beyond the name, it had no resemblance to things nautical.

Louise in the sapphire dress, with her hair down and thin strands tucked into a becoming top-knot, thought it was wonderful. Dick Stanley had asked her a week ago to have dinner with him, on her next night off, at the SS Omaha, where Angel was singing.

She looked up to see that Dick was smiling at her. He had said something, and she hadn't even heard. "I—I'm sorry," she exclaimed a little self-consciously. "You were saying—"

"I said, beautiful—twice. I think—you will have a cocktail before we eat? You don't get out often—so seldom that this is really a celebration."

"I'm a little drunk with just being here," she answered, her eyes sparkling. "A nice light Daiquiri, then," he suggested. "And what shall we eat? How about a steak? They've got it tonight—not chopped into a hamburger and not black market either."

"Medium, please," said Louise. "The very thought of steak does pleasant things to me." A few minutes later Angel drifted over to their table, beautifully shimmering black taffeta. She wore a cluster of white jasmine in her shining dark hair, her makeup was perfect, and altogether the effect was breathtaking.

Dick rose at once. "Sit down, gorgeous, and rest your throat until your turn. Right now you're a picture—a collector's item, I might even say."

She looked up to see that Dick was smiling at her. He had said something, and she hadn't even heard. "I—I'm sorry," she exclaimed a little self-consciously. "You were saying—"

"I said, beautiful—twice. I think—you will have a cocktail before we eat? You don't get out often—so seldom that this is really a celebration."

"I'm a little drunk with just being here," she answered, her eyes sparkling. "A nice light Daiquiri, then," he suggested. "And what shall we eat? How about a steak? They've got it tonight—not chopped into a hamburger and not black market either."

"Medium, please," said Louise. "The very thought of steak does pleasant things to me." A few minutes later Angel drifted over to their table, beautifully shimmering black taffeta. She wore a cluster of white jasmine in her shining dark hair, her makeup was perfect, and altogether the effect was breathtaking.

Dick rose at once. "Sit down, gorgeous, and rest your throat until your turn. Right now you're a picture—a collector's item, I might even say."

Angel didn't bother to acknowledge the homage. She was frankly putting on a disaffected. It was early, and the crowd hadn't yet arrived. Even when they came, it would be the same old story. They would come in droves, and there would be a lot of shouting from table to table and good-natured gibes floating about. Of course, it was harmless enough—but it was just so darn common. Why did she have to sing in a place like this anyhow? She'd never get anywhere singing for these people. She sat down at the table, however, and accepted Dick's invitation to join them for a cocktail.

They were sipping their drinks when Steve Turcot and Bob Grant, the orchestra leader, who had entertained at the Rand plant the day Angel sang there, came into the club. Seeing Dick, they came over for a minute and stopped at his table. When the greetings were over, Angel smiled at Steve Turcot and looked, without interest, at Grant. He had been a little abrupt with her that day at the plant, and she hadn't forgotten it. Besides, he was small-time. She couldn't resist saying:

"I thought you were so terribly busy with your evening engagements, maestro. What happened? Did you lose one of your many jobs?"

Grant laughed, unruffled. "No, Mrs. Saunders. But even a hard-working orchestra leader gets an occasional night off. We open two days from now in a Manhattan hotel. And is this rest welcome?"

Angel frowned. It seemed that everybody else got breaks—even a second-string orchestra leader—while she, a war hero's widow, had to struggle to get even a small spotlight. The more she thought about it, the more irritated she became.

Dick looked at him, a little startled, but made no attempt to reply.

"Yes," Dick went on when Angel had finished her song. "It's happening to women all over the world—and somehow they've had to go on. They weren't all married to war heroes either—that is, in the accepted sense of the word. Some of their husbands didn't live long enough to become heroes. A lot of them were just GI stiffs who happened to collide with a Nazi or Jap bullet in the ordinary routine of life in a fox-hole—just names on a casualty list. I see a lot of these wives as I go about my work, and they're taking it with their chins up. Angel isn't the only one to be pitted in fact—"

Dick did not continue the subject. He studied Louise speculatively, her profile was still turned toward him, her lips slightly parted, her chin tilted a little. "Why, she's beautiful!" he thought. "She's even more beautiful than Angel. But I can't quite figure her out."

WOOLING "ONE-FOURTH OF A NATION"

All of the campaigning or lack of campaigning by the presidential candidates, all the speech-making and tub-thumping and rallies are going to be aimed at only one quarter of the American electorate. At least that is the assertion of Dr. George Gallup's poll, which says that three out of four voters have already made up their minds.

Dr. Gallup is a feeler of the public pulse whose diagnoses of opinion are usually accurate. If you disbelieve the figures in this case, you can sample your own circle of acquaintances. You might even find that the three-out-of-four estimate is conservative.

But even if less than 10 million of the approximately 40 million civilian voters are still undecided, that minority is eminently worth wooing. For, with the voters in the armed forces, they hold the balance of power. In the 1940 presidential election, aside from nine southern states that are persistently and perennially Democratic, the winner's majority was less than 25 per cent in 35 of the 39 states.

Who are the still-to-be-convinced voters who will probably decide the election? It's easy to say who they aren't. They aren't those who vote a straight ticket for regional reasons, or because pa and grandpa always voted that way. They aren't federal job holders, or people dependent on the ward or city political boss for their livelihood. They don't belong to the two sizeable groups who think that President Roosevelt either can do no wrong, or can do nothing right.

Some may be vacillating and weak willed, and some may be indifferent. But our guess is that the majority of this minority is made up of intelligent citizens who are impervious to emotional catch phrases, unswayed by party prejudice, given to a long view of a subject and a desire to hear all the evidence.

If that is so, they aren't getting much help from their fellow citizens. This year, when time is precious and the stakes are great, much time and breath again are being wasted in unproductive and frequently unbecoming arguments between two voters whose minds are sealed against change, but who still consider a vote against their man as a personal affront.

The epithets have already started flying — phony, dictator, Communist, Fascist, win-the-war, lose-the-war and so on. Once again voters are thinking that if they can call the most names in the loudest voice, they have achieved a triumph of political logic.

Wouldn't it be nice if the convinced three-quarters should wear lapel buttons stating, "I've already made up my mind," and let the poor independent voter read the papers, listen to the candidates, and make his decision in a quiet atmosphere devoid of mud-slinging.

TURKEY TO BREAK

Berlin insists that Wednesday will see Turkey break diplomatic and economic relations with Germany as a prelude to joining the Allies in the war.

That's highly important if true, for while we no longer need Turkey's aid to beat the groggy Hitler, yet her active assistance in the immediate future might greatly shorten the war. The Nazi dictator is fighting for time, which is his best ally in his frantic effort to find an avenue of escape. Much depends on how hard the Allies can hit him during the next three months before bad weather sets in to give him a respite.

The Berlin report says Turkey will be asked to grant the Allies air and naval bases and that her own entrance into the war will be a matter of course.

The significance of this is that it would at long last give the United Nations a chance to clean the Germans out of the Balkans.

TOO TIRED

For weeks German armies in the east have been rapidly advancing backward. That's tiring. When they stop, the Russians pound them. That's wearying. And now when they are almost too tucked out to raise a hand, the Fuehrer reinstitutes that stiff-armed Nazi salute.

So we can believe the German radio when it says that pledges of loyalty to Hitler have been slow in coming through from the eastern front because of "extreme fatigue".

DETAIL FOR TODAY

SP in the Navy means shore patrol, the equivalent to an MP in the Army. The SP is usually a motherly type who has been given a course in jiu-jitsu and the job of watching over the men on liberty to see that they don't get into trouble. He is, however, called everything but "Mom." In most cases the SP has a physique similar to the Rock of Gibraltar and wears an expression that would frighten Frankenstein. He is particularly annoying when you are trying to catch a little sleep at the USO while waiting for your train. It seems that every SP in town wakes you up to ask for your liberty pass or leave papers.

Washington In Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Your Capital In Wartime: One pre-war custom that seems to have disappeared here is that of dismissing employees in midafternoon when the mercury goes into the stratosphere.

The Capital has just had surcease from a three-week heat wave that had everyone gasping. Down in those temporary frame buildings that line the Mall, employees worked in oven-like heat, that was held in from day-to-day by tightly locked doors and windows.

On those days when the thermometer registered in the 90's, supervisors held conferences on what to do: decided the war effort wouldn't permit dismissal even for a few afternoon hours. A medical and nursing staff was put on the alert and the sweat-soaked, weary workers worked on. No collapses were reported.

Most of the government buildings are air-conditioned, but not all and none of the temporary buildings which house so many of the war workers. In most cases, top executives have individual cooling units for their offices.

CHESTER BOWLES, director of OPA, is taking a leaf from the morale-builder book used by war industries in trying to show workers how each little bit they do contributes to the job of winning the war.

Under the direction of a progress information committee, the big picture of OPA's accomplishments is given weekly or oftener

the effect that Lester Blair who was injured in an automobile accident several days ago is resting comfortably and that George Keener, hurt in the same accident, is now able to sit up in a sun parlor at the hospital.

In 1934 Youngville firemen were called out yesterday, to fight grass fire that had assumed dangerous proportions. At the time the alarm was sounded the thermometers about Youngville registered 102 degrees.

The 20th annual reunion of the Alabama family will be held Aug. 15 at the Odd Fellows hall in East Hickory. The family is a large one and many from Warren county will attend.

Reports from Mt. Gretna where Company I is in camp at the present time state that the field inspection held there was one under skies that turned old Sol down until the mercury stood at 125.

Scout Executive Tom Ewing is devoting his time to the Boy Scouts in camp at Gowanda in in to everybody from supervisor to file clerk and messenger. Movies on rationing, price controls and black markets are shown the employees and in all instances, the importance of the contribution of the little job to the whole is stressed.

Once every few weeks, Bowles, himself, talks to the employees during the lunch hour. Other departments here are thinking of inaugurating a similar system. Some industries have been using it since Pearl Harbor—particularly those producing planes, ships and parachutes. Employees discover how often lives of the fighting man hang on some little monotonous wire twisting job or deadly routine inspections.

OPA workers are finding out how some little typing job or the running of reports from this office to that helps to hold the inflation front.

WALLACE COLMAN, Pied Piper of the Public Buildings Administration, reports that for the first time he can say that all government buildings here are free of rats.

In one of the worst rat-infested cities in the United States, that kind of a report should be lettered in gold. Colman's most recent big job was chasing the big rodents out of the brand new Pentagon building.

This doesn't mean that there never will be another rat around the federal buildings, but Colman's flying squads now can go into action whenever they get reports of a newcomer, without having to concentrate most of their time on the colonies.

town today and reports that the boys in camp are thoroughly enjoying the outing and that all are in good health.

The girls employed at Johnson Brothers store gave a dinner last evening at the Oletha Team Room honoring Miss Margaret Larson, who is leaving the store. Later in the evening she was presented with a fine gift.

STRATOSPHERE, ARTILLERY AID

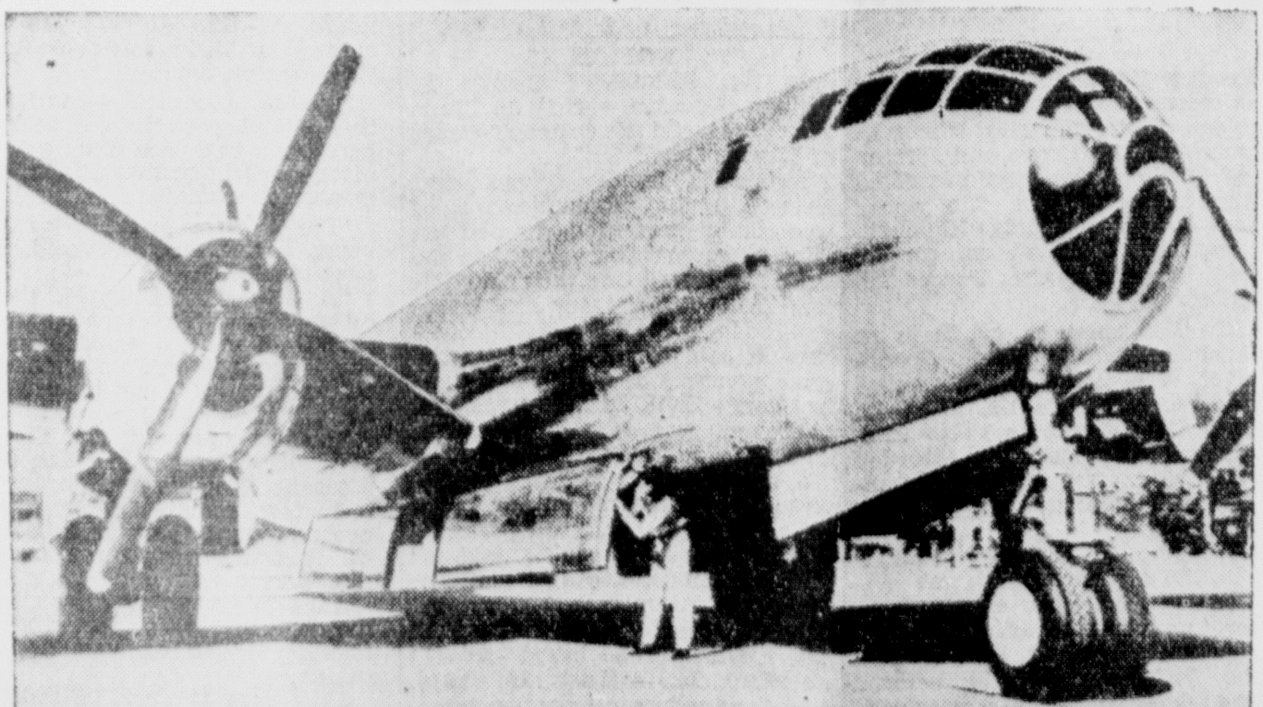

When the Germans bombarded Paris from 75 miles away in World War I they were the first to make use of the lower resistance of that layer of air known as the stratosphere.

POPULATION COMPARISON

Just prior to the war New York City, including suburbs, had a population of 10,901,000; London, 9,610,000; Tokyo, 5,311,000; Berlin, 4,288,000; Chicago, 4,264,000; and Paris, 3,783,000.

The Galveston hurricane of 1900 was the greatest death-dealing disaster in the history of the United States.

How the B-29's Carry So Much Destruction

Here you're let in on the secret of the B-29 Superfortress's big bombload: two bomb bays, fore and aft of the wings in the fuselage. Bombs are dropped alternately from each bay to maintain center of gravity. A soldier stands by the fore pair of doors, while the aft pair can be seen open at right, behind the wing section.

Hollywood Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Ben Hecht was going over his script for "The House of Dr. Edwards" with co-stars Ingrid Bergman and Gregory Peck, who will make it under Alfred Hitchcock's direction.

"This story deals with what used to be called luna," Hecht began. "Now they're known as paranoiacs." He beamed on Peck. "That's you," he said, and went on to discuss psychoses, psychiatry, psychoanalysis, neuroses, and other pleasant ramifications of his theme. "Now, is everything clear?" he concluded.

"All but one point," grinned Peck. "What made you get us into this?"

"That's obvious," said Hecht. "Paranoia!"

The suspense has been awful, but now you can relax. Brian Donlevy will be mustached, as usual, in "Two Years Before the Mast." Brian plays the author, Richard Henry Dana, and originally was to have been clean-shaven, but his daughter Judith Ann, 15 months old, objected. He says.

Lloyd Nolan is a partner in a Mexican-American movie company, producing in Mexico. First production, a musical, is now being edited.

The Florida shore-line re-created for "Sunday Dinner for a Soldier" includes some California sand carted from the Pacific beach to the studio stage, and also some good old California sand fleas that had to be spray-gunned to quell an epidemic of red welts on the thespian epidermises.

Another Preston Sturges American classic, "Hail the Conquering Hero," it's a sermon in rags, a fable in lugger, and boosts the Eddie Bracken stock a notch higher.

Joan Blondell, as provocative Aunt Sissy in "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," is wearing vintage attire of the 1915 era, her first essay at costumes after a screen career spent mainly in dresses designed to reveal shapely legs and curves, and therefore snugly fit. Aunt Sissy, with loose waistlines and ankle-length skirts, can take a deep breath as Joan never could before.

"What I'm revealing in this picture," says Joan, "is my face."

Gregg McClure, Producer Bing Crosby's discovery for "The Great John L.," has had his first fan letter. It's an offer to form a McClure fan club, and request for an autographed picture—of Bing Crosby!

A kid of 60 or so can look back on the early days when "the" was the hub around which things revolved. There was a plethora of magazines, quarters of the popular books, a myriad of matter prepar- readers. The kids' books few and far between and the only occasions when rary was enlarged.

The spirit that won the Army

AN AIR FORCE OFFICER came in for his routine checkup and was surprised to find a Wac in charge of the Link Trainer. "Why, that's no work for a woman!" he said.

"I've been trained for it, sir," the Wac answered with a smile. "And if I can't do it, I don't belong in this man's Army."

This Wac spirit isn't just one of brag or pride in the Corps. It's a spirit of confidence.

For the WAC hasn't been given jobs, it has won the right to do them. When the WAC was first organized, there were only four jobs the Army thought women could handle.

But the WAC rolled up its sleeves and showed the Army what women can do.

Job by job, they demonstrated their aptitude, their earnestness, and courage.

And the four jobs grew into 239. Today, wherever you find a Wac on the job, you find a job well done. G.I. Joe says it. The Colonel says it.

And the General says, "I wish we had a million more Wacs!"

Good soldiers... the WAC

Creal Keeps Golf Title Fourth Year

Tim Creal retained for the fourth straight year the Conewango Valley Country Club golf championship yesterday by whipping Bill Rice 13-12 in a scheduled 36-hole match.

Creal, in taking his final opponent, had one of his typical rounds on the opening 18, by shooting a 3-over-par 75 for the route to erase all chance for Rice as he came through the with an 8-up advantage at the terminal.

The champion started poorly, getting bogged on 1, 2, 4, and 5, but birdied on the 3rd and 9th to put in a 4-up count at the end of nine holes.

Rice at the same time was playing tough breaks along the line especially after evening up the match on the 5th when his shots began to hook slightly and cause him to lose several strokes while Creal started to blast down the middle on every one, after playing out of a tough lie on the 6th and reeled off four straight holes to lead his contestant 4-up at the end of nine.

Creal shattered all hopes for Rice on the second nine by shooting a one-over-par 37 over the difficult course, taking an 8-up lead at the end of the morning session. Rice picked up and managed to hold him down on the first two 4-par holes but faltered in the following four then came back to play even again on the remaining three, but gave the champion plenty of lead on him.

Creal came out for the afternoon session with one of his best rounds of the year, coming within two strokes of the course record of 22 and ending the match on the 25th hole. He took the first five holes in succession from Rice with a three under par showing and except for a bad break on the 27th would have tied the record for nine holes and the 18-hole record of 68.

A fair-sized crowd gathered to follow the first two rounds, and Creal, undoubtedly the top golfer in Warren circles gave them plenty to marvel at as he played almost flawless golf after the first five holes.

Morning Rounds
PAR 4 4 3 4 4 4 3 5 5—36
Creal 5 5 2 5 5 4 3 5 4—38
Rice 5 5 3 5 5 4 5 4 6 5—42

Afternoon Round

In the second flight championship run, "Hazy" Hubbs battled Johnny Trevenen even through the 18-hole match to win on the last hole with a birdie, one-up.

Both golfers had excellent rounds, but Hubbs' lengthy drives, averaging 250 yards, plus his accurate fairway play proved an advantage and gave him the lift.

In the consolation event, only 3 remain after yesterday's quarter-finals with Emmons Jones beating "Sparky" Saylor 2-up after an even match all the way through.

Struthers Drop Weird Game At Corry by Score of 14-13

In a game that was wild and woolly from the opening gun until the finish in the tenth, Struthers-Wells lost to the Corry Merchants at Corry yesterday afternoon by a score of 14 to 13. In the extra frame the Merchants literally chased the Ironworkers out of the city with a barrage of base hits and runs, including three bingles, a base on balls and an error.

Jim Rose started on the mound for the locals, but gave way to Johnny Kane after he had pitched seven and two-thirds innings, during which he was nipped for 15 bingles. Kane was no more effective and, after he had put the tying run on base, was relieved by Schussler. At this point a base on balls, a hit and an error completed the route, much to the satisfaction of the Corry fans.

Although there was a total of 30 hits by the two teams, there were very few for extra bases. Kennedy, Crandall and McLean hit for doubles, while Crandall and Martin connected for triples.

Tuesday evening Struthers will play the Newberry's of Jamestown at Russell Field and on the following Sunday will play the Buffalo Colored Giants on the home diamond here at three o'clock.

The score by innings:
Warren 134 000 003 2-13 12 5
Corry 303 101 021 3-14 18 5
Batteries—Rose, Kane, Schussler and Bonavita; Koestner, Black, Group and Sokol.

Fast Jamestown Club Booked At Russell Field Tomorrow

The Struthers Wells Baseball Club will play their second twilight game of the season on Russell Field tomorrow night when they meet the strong Newberry Club from Jamestown, N. Y., at 6:15 o'clock.

This is the team that will be remembered as the club that only a few weeks ago held the National Forge club to a 2-0 game at the State Hospital. Although most of the players are youngsters, they know the game and have lots of pep speed and power to make them a threat at any time. They have a couple of veterans to add a little experience and to balance the club up into a nicely balanced team.

One of the veterans is their pitcher "Howie" Onik, who will be seen in action on Tuesday evening. To those fans who have been following baseball for a number of years, he will be remembered as a pitcher who came to Warren on two different occasions with a fast traveling semi-pro team and gave a real account of himself in each of the games. After he returned to his home in Freeburg, N. Y., he was signed by Gardner and was seen in action both in the City League and in Independent ball both in Warren and the State Hospital. It is mainly through his efforts that the Newberry outfit is now in second place in the Jamestown City League. The Struthers boys are not looking for any soft picking with him in the box.

To date Manager Swanson's boys have given a good account of themselves in both games played at Russell Field this season, beating the Sylvania Foresters of Emporium 6-5 in a ten inning thriller packed game and defeating Corry Merchants 7-5 in an exciting twilight game last Wednesday. They are out Tuesday to keep their home record clean and to prime themselves for their big game of the year next Sunday, August 6th when they will meet the Buffalo Colored Giants at Russell Field. This club comes to Warren highly touted as the best colored club in Buffalo and western New York State.

Besides playing Tuesday against the Newberry team, the Struthers club will entertain the Giants on Sunday, will travel to Stockton where they will be hosts of the Hope Windows of Jamestown at the Stockton town picnic and have negotiations on for a game either Thursday or Friday at Russell Field.

Second Largest Crowd of the Season Sees Disappointing Monessen Team Lose to Forge

The National Forge defeated Monessen Greys at Wilder Field Sunday afternoon by a score of 10 to 4 before the second largest crowd of the season, topped only by Hans Wagner's All-Stars.

The Monessen club appeared on the field a half hour late and it was not until four o'clock that the game was started. The team came here somewhat over-rated and proved no more than fair competition to the National Forge. The Forge management is sorry that the team was so highly over-rated. On two occasions at least it was recommended as one of the best in the Pittsburgh district. Whether the entire team failed to make the trip could not be learned and the local management and players have decided that no colored team will be booked again this year unless it is the Homestead Grays.

The management expresses appreciation to the loyal fans who attended the game from nearby towns, some as far distant as Jamestown, and announces that the Buffalo Bell Aircraft Comets have been booked for next Sunday's attraction. At the same time attempt is being made to bring back the fast and snappy Bradbenders, from Erie for August 13th.

In yesterday's game it was apparent who the winner would be from the opening gun, although the Grays were still in the ball game going into the eighth inning with the score 6 to 3, in favor of the locals. However, Forge scored four in the eighth, sewing up the game. The Grays scored one in the third, and the Forge came back to tally one on the third. The Grays picked up two more runs in the fifth with the Forge shoving another over in the same inning. Forge topped off the scoring in the eighth when Creola walked, Massa singled, Morrison tripled to score both runners. Natalie singled scoring Massa and scored on Solok's bingle.

Gagliardi pitched two and one-third innings when he developed a sore arm and was relieved by "Diz" Hines who turned in a beautiful relief game. Creola, Massa, Natalie and Solok each had two hits. Solok played a good game at first, having a perfect day in the field and batting in three runs with his two hits.

Thursday evening at the State Hospital diamond, Forge will meet the Corry Merchants. The box score:

No one should borrow unnecessarily, but there are times when a loan is the best solution to a money problem. Thousands of letters in our files tell of the many worth-while things made possible by a Personal loan. If you need extra cash, perhaps a Personal loan would be to your advantage too.
Personal makes loans promptly, and privately, without involving outsiders. Sensible monthly payments are arranged and the cost is surprisingly low. For example: $30 for 2 weeks costs less than 53c. Getting a loan as simple as opening a charge account. Come in, phone or write us today.
